The Upland Brewing Company headquarters in beautiful Bloomington, Indiana, is not just a restaurant and bar. It's a throwback to pubs of old, where friends and neighbors gathered to share old stories and create new ones. The Bloomington Brewpub is where it all began, but just like their beer, they have continued to innovate and reimagine it over the years.

Their seasonal fare is just as carefully crafted too, with lunch and dinner menus that feature locally sourced ingredients and plenty of creative options for vegetarians and vegans. Spring through fall, enjoy your beer on our patio where you'll be sure to run into friends or make new ones. You can even enjoy live music certain days of the week.

Break out your sleeping bag and flashlight, and don't forget to cross off your Bucket List.. you will be meeting with a team of experts from Ghost Hunts USA to take part in an all-night Paranormal Investigation!

“Named the 3rd most haunted location in Indiana, it's no wonder that professional investigators and paranormal celebrities such as TAPS' Grant Wilson and Chad Lindberg are drawn to the Roads Hotel in Atlanta, Indiana. Originally built as a hotel in 1893, Newton Roads bought the property and deeded it to his wife Clara. She ran the hotel and boarding house with her daughter Hazel and son Everett until her son succumbed to a battle with tuberculosis at the age of 19. Is Everett the full-bodied apparition of a man they stil see lurking in the shadows?” - Ghost Hunts USA website
